For the Conthiana News. HATTIE'S SMILE.

BY A PEDESTRIAN.

My Hattie is a winsome lass, Au' fair as any flower, Her breath is sweeter than the rose That scents her favirite hower; Her e'en are brighter than the stars That lovers' thoughts beginle, An' there is the other thing in earth As bright as Hallie's smile.

Her voice is like the wimplin burn, That sings the lee-lang day. Sar sore, an' low, an' mes cal. Yo'd list its longs for ave. The birthe wars, if free the true, Is charmed a 1 to while. An' thinks there's cam' an ther day-But 'as my Hattie's sinde.

Then gie' me but a lowly cot. Close by the Lockin's side. Let Hattie share my mable lot, My Investan' I vang bride: An' ye may la ' a' stations high; Be fortune's favored chil'. An' ye canna' happy be as I Wi' Hattie's leesone smile. CYNTHIANA, Ky., 1555.

ITIt has been denied by many news-State that the power to interfere between the subjects and their sovreign, and between citizens and their government was invested in the Pope; and during the late session of Congress, Mr. before that body, in defence of Romanism, took the same ground, and also pubhely den el that such power was vested depose wicked sovereigns, but we believe in the Holy See. But it is very strange that kings should have consented to vest such power in anybody, and argues little for their common sense .-They must have been always uneasy, and power, though they may have called in question the justice of the act. and more, that there was no power to depose, other than God's. So far is the doctrine of the deposing power from having been admitted by the deposed monarchs that they wholly denied it, not merely as vested in the Pope, but as actually existing in the world. The deposing power does not actually exist at present; is publicly taught in evevery State that considers itself free -It is the doctrine of Americans, for they deposed George III. It is the doctrine of Englishmen, who repused James II, and of Frenchmen, for they have deposed the dynasty of the Bourbors The Spinpards admir it, for Queen Isabelt a's throne is in danger. The difference between the modern and mediæval world consists or this. We vest this in the people, one ancestors, more wisely, in the Pope. In England the deposing doctrine is made a law of the Kingdom, to be put in force whenever the reigning savereign prefers his soul to the sceptre. Kings, of course. have done their atmost to discredit the doctrine, and they have gained for themseves, instead of it, the scoffold and the sword. The divine right of certain families to govern nations according to their will is refuted, not by argument, but by exile or a violent death. If kings prefe this solution of the difficulty to that which mediæval principles offered, that is their affair. This, however, is certain, the papers, as well as individuals, in this Pope was more patient and considerate than the people are, and a deposition is less injurious to society than a bloody revolution. A deposition does not necessarily involve a change of dynasty, but in general a revolution does; and perhaps kings might, on reflection, prefer to lose Chandler, of Pennsylvania, in a speech the crown to themselves only, to losing it for all the family as well.

eign Wise press of Virginia. We find in the Boston Telegraph extracts from a letter of Giddings', which ne has recently addressed to his Abolition constituents. This letter, we learn from the Telegraph, is principally occupied with a discussion of the slavery question, but towards the close of it. Giddings undertakes to give his views upon the subject of Know-Nothingism. He says that he at first regarded it as a screen-a dark wall--behind which members of old political organizations could escape unseen from party shackles, and take a new position according to the dictates of their judgment and conscience -that is, according to the Abolition notions and wishes of Joshua R. Giddings. With this belief, Giddings says he treated it with forbearance.

But, he says, it has now become evident that many of its members at the North, and in some States a majority of them are trying to turn its influence in lavor of slavery. This effort appears to him like the last resort of servility in the free States. He says:

"It must and will be promptly met .-will be ferreted out, driven from its hiing places, and exposed to the contempt nd detestation of mankind. I would of apply these remarks to the friends of freedom, who from honest motives united with the society alluded to, and who maintained their love of liberty, their hatred of oppression. In them l have confidence. I do not believe they can be led captive by the artifices now devery. I refer explicitly to that portion of the organization who, while they attenuit to excite the apprehension of he people lest a few foreigners shall trample on our own liberties, would conlinue in force the statutes of Congress, by which men and women born and bred bondage-bought and sold like brutes in Gidlings next goes on to express his bellef that the people of the free States will not tolerate a secret society based apon such principles, and he says furthermore, that the attempt to excite prejudices against foreigners, who come here with an undying hatred to slavery. must fail. The people of the North, he says, will prefer a foreigner who is honestly devoted to liberty -- that is, to Abohitionism--rather than a native citizen who attempts to silence the voice of freedonn-inal is, one who attempts to put down agitation and fanaticism. Gidangs would, therefore, let the love of ine distributions-that is, devotion to his over the do times-determine the elecdons, to and of birth. Hear him:

"There are few foreigners whom I would be less willing to trust in office. than those who are so active in their eftorts to arouse the popular feeling against our emigrant population, while they themselves remain perfectly quiet, and see our free native born Americans, from Ohio and other free States, seized and sold into interminable slavery, aye, they not only remain quiet under such insults, but misist that the people shall ized them think, that they had exceeded punished for his refusal, because he owes not discuss the impropriety of such Does and discovaring that they were naticity. jority of them are trying to turn its influence in favor of slavery."

We invoke the people of Virginia and the South to consider these Abolition deelopments at the North AGAINST the Koow-Nothings with calmness and deliberation. There must be some meaning in them—some significance—some object unfavorable to the interests and institutions of the Southern people. It is impossible that Seward, Giddings, Greeley, Weed, Adams and Wade, and the entire Abolition forces at the North should be arrayed against the American party, if this party is not committed and pledged against them, their views, priniples and purposes. It is incredible that Abolitionists should oppose an Abolition party! It is unnatural, unusual, and downright folly to suppose, that the Abolitionists here named should denounce a party which sympathizes with them in F A FVELETH, Livery and Sale Stable, main street the least. Their opposition and denunciation, then, is the best possible evidence of the conservatism and trustworthiness of the Know-Nothing party even at the North. And how more than trustworthy and true is the Know-Nothing party at the South?

We beg our readers to consider these things, and despise, as they ought, the vile and unprincipled cry of Abolitionism against the Know-Nothings, which proceeds from the Wise party -- a party which elected Van Buren and Joe Johnson with the same cry upon their lips against the Whigs.

THE POPE CURSING NICHOLAS. -- In a etter from M. Gaillardet, of Paris, to the French paper in New York, is a pasexcreed to convert them to the support of sage which we find translated in the National Democrat, which reads thus:

When the Emperor Nicholas was on a visit to Gregory XVI, at Rome, in 1844, the Holy Pather reproached him with his persecution of Catholies in his dominions. The Czar did not deny the various diases which the Pope had deon American soil are held in degrading signedly collected, and pointed out to kim with his finger. He even frankly marking that he had done it because he, of course could not look upon Roman. Catholicism as the true religion. At those words Gregory rose from his seat, and, resting his two hands on the shoulders of the Czar, said to him, in the J. & S. LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS!

fr In this mammon-worshipping age, it is rare to find a man place his usefulness to the public, before his interest. During a late visit to the "Proy of Spindles," we were presented by a professional friend to the celebrated chemist. Dr. James. C. Ayer, whose name is now perhaps more familiar at the bedside of sickness than any ther in this country. Knowmg the unprecidented popularity of his mediexpected to find him a millionar, and rothing in wealth. But no, we found him in his laboratory husy with his laborers, among his crucibles alembies, and returts-giving his best persona care to the compounds, on the virtues of which thousands hang for health. We learned that, not withstanding his vast busine s and its promot returns in cash, the Doctor is not rich. The rea son assigned is, that the materiel is costly, and he persists in making his preparations so expen sively, that the nest profit is small.

NO CURE, NO PAY, POSITIVELY. NEVER KNOWN TO F.HL! Dr. Robinson's SPECIFIC.

A certain safe, effectual, and prompt remedy for al howel complaints, such as Summer Complaint, hi arrhosa, Bysentery, Bloody Flux, Cholera Marbus, and Asiatic Chulera in its first stages. This infallible medicine is purely vegetable and free from all heating or pol sonous substances whatever. It is wonderful in its effects, yet hamiless as water for the most delivate person. This medicine has been in use for a number of years, and hos repeatedly cured the worst of the above cases in a few minutes, after all other remedies had failed; and physicians have pronounced it one of the most valuable remedies known. It positively cures the worst of diseases for which it is recommended in a short time, or the money relunded.

Wm. T. Redmon's by the reneal of the naturalization laws. They would still be voters under the State laws. Was not Mr. B. aware, that by the constitutions and laws of all the States, except a few of those carved out of the north-western territory, no foreigner is permitted to vote unless he be a naturalized citizen under the laws of the United States? That being the case, would not the repeal of the naturalization laws, at once, put a stop to the increase of the foreign vote in all those States?-and would that be accomplishing nothing? We strongly suspect that Mr. B. thought it would accomplish too much for the good of his party; it would cut off almost entirely the host of foreign recruits, by whom alone he has any tope of sustaining that party. Hence his anxiety and labored effort to per-

THE KENTUCKY FLAG. -- In our remarks on the article of the 'Flag,' commenting on a former article of ours, in relation to NEDY, Esq., of Paris, as a candidate for the the naturalization case at Paris, we intended nothing personally offensive to the Junior editor, to whom it seems we were replying. For that gentleman we entertain a high regard; and our relations with him have ever been of the most friendly character. He is a young man of superior abilities, and, in every sense, a true gentleman. We know that he enjoys the universal esteem of the community in which he lives. We predict for him a brilliant editorial career; his scholarship and talents, we can say, without DICKERSON, of Scott county, the present inflattery, will make him an ornament to the editorial profession, anywhere.

We will say, in this connection, that in our occasional contests with other papers, we discriminate between the paper and its editor; and however tart our remarks may appear, they are aimed at the paper; not at the editor. We regard HAS jus been opened by the moderational, in the root the paper; not at the editor. We regard HAS jus been opened by CERL & ANDERSON. Was a newspaper as a sort of corporation, an artificial person, to speak after the manner of lawyers, capable of suing and being sucd, of prosecuting and defending, of abusing and being abused. God forbid! that their editors should be confounded with them, in the fierce contests they often have with each other. Editors, as a class, we regard as the eleverest set of fellows living. We belong to them; all our hopes in life are embarked in their fraternity. We, therefore, feel in reference to them to all, a genuine DSPRIT DU corrs-a fraternal and brotherly regard. We wish for them all the fullest measure of prosperity and happiness.

The Great Northern Trotter and Nure Foul-Getter,

Ned Forrest,

There is in one testaking about Ned Forrest, as pretty much every "horse man" in the country has seen elegat, and no trotting horse in the Union con abow a better pedictive, as the following will prove.

Ned Forrest was set by the celebrated northern treting horse Young Brahaw, and was sired by the Arabian Grand Brash w, who was imported from Fripori by Capt. Joseph C. Morgan, who resided there several years, and selected him with great case is no the test stock of horses in that country. Its dom was sired by the great race horse first lowed; his grand dam by old Mesenager; his great grand dam by imported Rockingnam. Ned Forresting am was by the favorite trotting horse Salipetic, and of the fault blood Mersan mate.

Thus it will a seen that will be stock upon the sire's elders of the pure, undegenerated Arabia, that of the dam is the very best American, which is presumed to be sufficient recommendation. So orling on yet marks and get coits that will pay for ravine.
